Messege From the president Habtamu Gebissa

I congratulate you and your family. I believe your enthusiasm and effort lead you to reach at this day. Besides your hard work, your family and those who were with you during your study have also put their foot print in your achievement. This is the beginning of your accomplishments. I hope you will have such similar days in tomorrow.

I'm sure you have really passed via many challenges. I firmly believe that the obstacles you faced have made you so strong. Consequently you will provide strong, genuine, humble and highest standard health to your country.

I hope you have well recognized the need of the society during your clinical or public attachment. I'm confident that you also gained numerous experiences how to team up and provide the best you can offer. I advise you to maintain the code of conducts and adhere to medical ethics so as to use your knowledge in a way the society inquires.

Lastly, I should like to say congratulations to you, your family, instructors and to all who played highest contribution to your success.

To be one of East Africa's premier health science university

Apply Knowledge
the burden of illness
concern to the people large.

Messege From the vice president Mohamoud Sahardid

Al-Hamdu Lillah! I would like to express my warmest congratulations to all 2015/2016 graduates and it gives me great pleasure to congratulate in this wonderful event which you have been waiting to come, since you joined the university, this the day in which you, your parents, professors and honored dignitaries and guests have come together to share, celebrate and witness the greatness and importance with this event beers for all of us in this graduation Ceremony.

Though it has been a very complicated time for us but we have made every attempt to carry out our mission and vision of training medical students to become health worker with very modest recourse. Long-suffering patient care, promotion of health care researchers and medical service is our AAMUC Priority.

To the students : the highest struggle and perseverance since primary school , you have made a big achievement to become a member of the health workforce, and the university not only gives professional skill but, prepares you for real life .

Finally, Congratulations! Congratulations! On behalf of the university staffs and myself, we wish you all the best in your future career inshaa Allah.

Message From the Academic Dean

Rowling Wondemneh

Dear graduate students; your quickness to go here and there, broad air of busyness, study stress, sadness or happiness, surprised or disgusted, talking about grades and exam related issues in the University College's campus for the past three or four years especially at the end of the tenth semester indicate that you are already holding your first degree in medical science and a new chapter of new life is about to start.

For this new life in further education or work experience, together with your efforts and support, the new management of our campus had facilitated and answered awful lots of your educational queries in the past one year. The management has brought real changes in reference books, demonstration equipments, classroom arrangement, website and internet upgrading and more opportunities for community assessment and research thesis.

Dear batch 6th of all different streams graduate students, I'm proud of your achievements and would like to say congratulations and best wishes on your outstanding achievement, and sincerely hope you will stay in touch with our institute and share your professional and personal achievements.

Message From the Department Head

Abdikarim Dahir Tani.

All the praises due Allah (Alhamdulillah!!!) for Allowing me to share my deepest passionate feeling, Greeting And Congratulation with my Beloved endeavouring graduating students, for being the Icons of the Medical graduates.

Surely, I know that all the years you have studied have not been in vain but really become valuable. As a student, today is a proud moment for you to graduate and to me is a Priceless happiness to see my students stand up on their feet and contributing the health service delivering system of our country and the world at large.

The long waited time of yours to be a Medical Officers holding their Advanced and qualified Knowledge to help the poor, the needy and the vulnerable ones who are suffering from the burden of illness has come now, So work hard to enable them changing their pain into gain.

Finally, you did it! And the reward will be a reason for much happiness for all of us, but don't stop building your career at this point, because we have showed you the way and it's for you to Walk Ahead.

Knowledge and Practice of Mothers Towards ANC in SH. Omar Village. Hargeisa, Somaliland

Hamse , Roda, N. Ibrahim, Adam, Hamda, N. Mohamed, Sahra, Hodan

The objective of this study was to assess the knowledge and practice of mothers living in this village. The only MCH in SH. Omar confirmed that ANC visits of mothers in the village are far more less than expected. This is what stimulated the researchers of this study to investigate the knowledge and practice of ANC among mothers in this village. In the study cross sectional study design was conducted among 186 mothers in the village in June and July 2016. The participants were interviewed using questionnaire and obtained data was analyzed using SPSS package, version 12.0. The research found that 52.7% of the mothers thought that they had no need to go to ANC check-up during their pregnancy, and majority of them, being 66.3%, did not understand that high blood pressure affects the fetus growth. It was more than expected to find that 56% of the mothers participated in this study, did not practice ANC regularly during their pregnancies. The research concluded that majority of mothers in SH. Omar village had poor knowledge and practice about ANC and its utilization services to make the matter worse, their educational level was far below average also. Based on the findings and conclusion of this research, the study recommends for ministry of health, health NGOs, MCH in the village, to make a campaign of awareness towards ANC importance among mothers in the village. The study also recommends to make health education and health promotion among mothers in the village in order to enhance their level of knowledge and practice towards ANC.

Socio-cultural and Health Related factors that Contribute high incidence of Tuberculosis in Hargeisa Tuberculosis hospital patients

Asia, Ayan, fadumo, Fosia, Hani, M.Hadi, M.Hashi, M.Mohamed & Sucad

The purpose of this study was to examine the factor that contribute high incidence of tuberculosis in Hargeisa TB hospital patients. Tuberculosis (TB) remains an important public health problem throughout the world. There are a lot of people who developed TB especially low socio-economic ones. The general objectives of this study were to investigate social, cultural and health related factors that contributes high incidence of tuberculosis in Hargeisa TB hospital patients. To expand the capacity of this research both primary data which was 80 questionnaires consisting 29 questions and secondary date which were used published books, internet and other important sources were used. The research design and approach was descriptive cross-sectional and quantitative respectively. The participants of this study were 80 respondents selected randomly from 220 patients. The time scope of this study was June to July 2016. This study showed that majority of the respondents 69% were met social stigma from the community and they take phobia for their disease. The conclusion of this study showed that, majority of the patients 64% were living in overcrowded place with non-ventilated areas, so this may increase the incidence of the TB. Also this study highlighted that majority of the respondents were said that the TB hospital was far apart from their home. This problem can lead the patients not to go to the hospital. This study recommends to build health facility specially Tuberculosis hospitals in the major areas of the country. More over not stigmatize patients who have Tuberculosis positive because stigma can cause the patients not to arrive at the hospitals and hide their problem.
